Color codes for the branches of the Kaighin family. The Ballanoe Kaighin Branch is extinct, the remaining eleven are extant. There is one other branch of the family from Glenlough, Kirk Bride which I have been unable to connect to the Ballakaighin Kaighins, and one other branch originally from Kirk Michael and Jurby (their name was spelled Kaughin). That family is also extinct. Each branch is named after the farm or location where the progenitor of that branch was known to have lived.

Birkenhead July 9th 1844

Dear Uncle and Aunt,

I embrace this opportunity of writing these few lines to you hoping that you are in good health as this leaves me at present thank God for it. I arrived at Birkenhead the same which is a great blessing. I am sorry to inform you that Henry died on the passage home when we were within two days sail of Liverpool and he was thrown overboard almost in sight of land off Cape Clere. But my Dear Uncle it was a great trial for me and we all have our trials & we must bear them as best we can. I hope that God will be a father & a kind consolation to me that he died so happy. He was quite resigned to die he said for he had made his peace with God. My Dear Uncle I have not been to the top of Mon yet. But I have had a letter from my Mother she says they are all quite well at home & is glad to hear you are all so well in America. I cannot tell you much news yet but I intend going home next week to stay awhile.

There was a young man that came passenger with us in the ship and he is going to stop at Ramsey for a few days he promised to call at Ballakaighin to write you a few lines to tell you that I arrived safe home. I am sending you by the same person to you a book The History of the Isle of Man. I got it from my sister and thought you would like it, so I hope you will get it safe.

Remember me to Mr. & Mrs. Cottier. I hope their family are all well so no more at present but remember me to all my cousins in Elizabeth Town and I remain

Your Affectionate Niece
Ann Hamilton
